

Did you know that small changes to your service, environment and communication can help those with a learning disability or autism have a better experience when in your care?

For practical ideas and examples that could make a big difference visit: www.staffsstokeics.org.uk/small-changes